Dr. J. M. T. Finney, of Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, read an interesting paper on surgery of the stomach, describing the operation, which is known the world over as Finney's operation.

The symposium on cancer was of exceeding interest, and was ably discussed by Dr. J. S. Horsley, of Richmond; Dr. Pearson, of Bristol, Va.; and Dr. A. L. Tyne, of Fishersville, Va.

It may be of interest to the general public to know that the trend of medical opinion is to the effect that cancer is not hereditary, but infectious.

Dr. Hubert Royer, one of the finest surgeons of North Carolina, is in attendance, as well as Dr. Blakeslee, of Binghamton, N. Y., and Dr. O. C. Brunk, of the Eastern State Hospital, Williamsburg.

Dr. Stuart Michaux and Dr. Clifton Miller, of Richmond, and Dr. Hugh Hancock, of Richmond, are among the new arrivals.

Yesterday's session settled the important question of the new Constitution, which was carried through by unanimous vote.

Papers were read by Dr. Stuart McGuire, of Richmond; Dr. R. H. Whitehead, of Charlottesville; Dr. J. S. Horsley, of Richmond; Dr. Pearson, of Bristol, Va.; Dr. McGuire's analysis of the last year's cases of cancer operated on at St. Luke's Hospital was of exceeding interest.

At the meeting of the health officer, an interesting report on the milk conditions around Richmond was read by Dr. E. C. Levy, Dr. Paulus A. Irving outlined to the society the changes in the laws relating to the State Board of Health, which will be presented to the coming Legislature.

It is the consensus of opinion among the doctors that this is one of the best and most delightful meetings the society has ever held—successful not only as a scientific standpoint, but socially as well. The doctors have gotten in closer touch with each other and better acquainted, and have accomplished an unusual amount of work.

PROMISE TO GIVE BETTER TERMINALS

Norfolk and Western Working on Plans and Will Improve Petersburg Station.

NEWS FROM PETERSBURG

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
PETERSBURG, Va., November 14.—A conference held this morning in the office of the president of the Norfolk and Western Railway Company, at Roanoke, between a committee appointed by the Petersburg Chamber of Commerce, President Johnson and Vice-President and General Manager Maher, of the railway company, resulted in the conclusions that in view of the relative locations of the three railway lines entering Petersburg, and of the refusal of the other two lines to co-operate in the proposed construction of a union station for the Norfolk and Western and Atlantic Coast Line roads was the only feasible plan. The conclusions were also reached that the Norfolk and Western Railway would enlarge their plans in the improvement of their present station, making it larger and more suitable for the city, and fixing up the grounds and surroundings, and that this, with other arrangements which they contemplated making in the near future, would change the tracks in the Petersburg yard to relieve the congestion and eliminate the necessity of crossing numerous tracks in approaching the station, are the most feasible things to do at this time for the purpose of giving the city Petersburg for some years to come fine passenger station facilities.

The new plans for improvement at the station will be prepared without delay and submitted to the Chamber of Commerce of the city for their approval before going on with the work, and it is the intention of the railway company to execute these plans at an early date.

The committee returned to Petersburg this evening, and express their gratitude for the kindly reception tendered them by President Johnson and Vice-President Maher.

On the 7th of last October while in bed suffering from the last stages of consumption Taylor shot and wounded the Rodgers woman, who had entered his home and commenced to abuse his wife. He was never able to appear in court.

Several windows of the Old Street Presbyterian Church were broken last night by bricks thrown by some unknown person.

To Erect Seven Houses.
The Petersburg House Building Company is preparing to erect seven residences on their property at the east end of Millmore Street, formerly known as the Old Dominion Field, but hereafter to be known as Park Place, because of its proximity to Central Park. As previously reported, the city has agreed to extend sewers and lay sidewalks in front of the building lots.

The company will erect seven houses to cost not less than $25,000 apiece. The company has accepted plans, and is preparing to receive bids for the erection of the houses, which it proposes to complete by May 1, 1908.

Petersburg Council, Knights of Columbus, initiated twelve candidates at a meeting last night at their council room in Odd Fellows Hall. District Deputy Joseph M. Smith, of Baltimore, conferred the second degree. A delegation from Richmond was also in attendance.

MUCH POLITICS IN IT.
Consolidation of Districts a Move in Behalf of Cortelyou.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BRISTOL, Va., November 14.—The friends of Wm. P. Brownlow, a low, of the First Tennessee District, declare that the Congressman was "tricked" in the matter of the order consolidating the two internal revenue districts of Tennessee at the appointment of Robert S. Sharp, of Chattanooga, to be the collector instead of either of the old collectors. The Congressman, they believe, had believed up to noon last Saturday that the talked of consolidation would not be made, but that three hours later Mr. Brownlow learned that the collector of the Second District, Butler, collector of the Second District, with offices in Bristol, was to be tendered the position of chief deputy under the new collector.

Friends of the First District Congressman here are outspoken in the belief that the whole affair was a political game, and that it means that the friends of H. Clay Evans are to be the best of the matter.

Powderly, representing the Department of Commerce and Labor, and the introduction and reference of a large number of other resolutions constituted the leading features of to-day's session.

A notable feature was the address of Mr. Powderly, who declared he hoped the day would come in his time when the President of the United States and his Cabinet would not consider it beneath their dignity to visit and address the American Federation of Labor.

To Relieve Financial Strain.
Resolutions were introduced calling upon Congress in the event of an "industrial crisis" following the "financial crisis" to find "ways and means to ameliorate and mitigate the crisis by issuing money without interest to States, counties and cities for the purpose of building highways, schools, bridges and public utilities; provided, however, that such work be done at union wages, under the eight-hour day; the money proposed to be loaned to be returned in easy installments."

Other resolutions to-day were as follows: Calling on all members of organized labor to absolutely hold aloof from all military organizations until the United States provides a military system such as that of Switzerland or the like.

Providing for a woman organizer of the woman wage-workers of the United States.

Indorsing the Spigit bill in Congress for the relief of seamen in foreign-going vessels.

Levying a general assessment of 1 cent per month for the aid of the labor union in Los Angeles.

Calling for a minimum of $9 per week wages for all female retail clerks and giving this movement the support of the federation.

Calling for the building and repairing of all government vessels at navy yards, and a committee to have this in charge, with a salary of $24 per week each and necessary expenses, hotel expense not to exceed $1.50 per day.

Would Elect Federal Judges.
Asking the election of Federal Judges.

The pensioning of indigent laborers over sixty years of age.

Prohibiting the transportation of goods made by child labor.

The aid asked during industrial crises in the issuing of money without interest to States, counties and cities for public improvements, union wages to be paid, and the government eight-hour rule to be enforced.

Placing the fact that the government quickly went to the aid of Wall Street, pouring millions into their coffers, at low rates of interest, Congress is asked to loan money to labor, on approved securities, at low rates of interest, during industrial depressions.
